

It's been said that teachers touch the future. Is a teaching career in your future? In the Education & Training Cluster you'll find the careers to impart knowledge, skills, specialized support, and guidance to learners in schools, communities, and the workplace. Educators and trainers need to be knowledgeable in their subject area, communicate well, and be able to adjust to the learning styles of individual students. This cluster employs some of the most highly educated workers in the labor force, and many jobs require specialized certification. Overall job growth in this cluster is expected to be very strong.
