

The information technology cluster is at the center of a remarkable information-driven revolution that started in the business world and has ended up transforming society as a whole. Today, the information revolution continues and the IT Cluster offers dynamic opportunities in every sector of the economy, featuring several of the fastest-growing careers. These jobs entail designing, developing, supporting, and managing hardware, software, multimedia, and systems integration services. Opportunities in this cluster require a strong grounding in math and science, an understanding of technological solutions, and a knack for collecting, analyzing, and structuring information

Other Career Possibilities:

Software Engineer, Database Manager, Multimedia Producer, Technical Writer, Web Designer/Developer, Network Administrator