The number of HCS D test-takers continues to be strong, with 748 seniors taking the SAT. Additionally, the Hall County School District ranks 37th out of 169 school systems in the state (only including schools in which 15 or more students took the test).

Deputy Superintendent for Teaching and Learning, Kevin Bales, stated, “There are numerous ways to measure whether a school system is successful in meeting the needs of its students. Traditionally, SAT scores have been one of the more popular standards. To add this year’s district SAT scores to that list is certainly encouraging and reassuring. We celebrate our students for their commitment and hard work, and we extend our gratitude to the teachers, leaders, and support staff who laid the groundwork for making these scores possible.”
